New Policies Made for Safety of Students

Starting school at 8:00 a.m., instead of 8:25, was just one of many decisions the Administration made. Part of the reason for this change had to do with athletics becoming an extracurricular activity. With the time set the way it was, some students would not have finished practice until after dark. Mr. Wook commented that "It is the school's responsibility to do everything possible for the safety of the students."

Last year many students felt that the new attendance policy, which involved sending notices home to notify parents of absences, was just a waste of time. This proved to be wrong. Palo Verde had the highest attendance rate of any high school or junior high in TUSD.

Administrators have always been thought of just as disciplinarians, but they are the people responsible for operating and supervising the school so that teaching and learning can take place.

Counselors Assisted Students in Many Areas

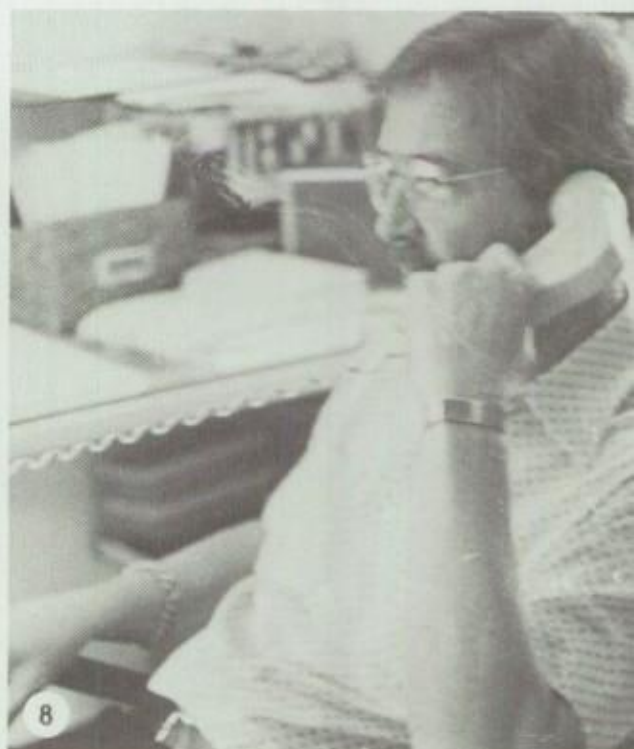

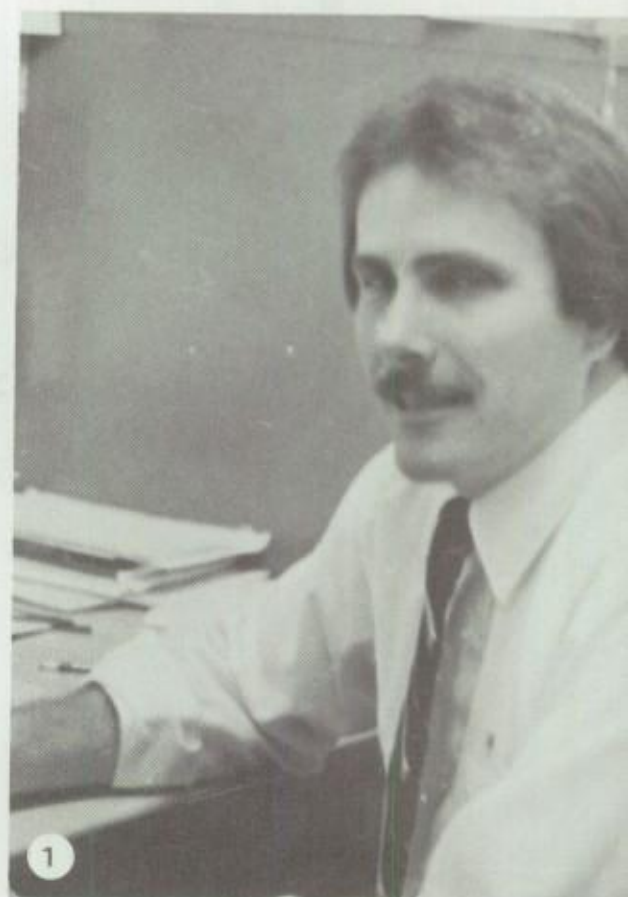

Assistance in college print-outs, academic planning, and financial aid were just some of the tasks for which the counselors were responsible during the year.

They also answered questions about schedules and gave advice concerning problems with parents, teachers and friends. The counselors tried to guide the students to the best possible solutions to their problems.

Counselors were always trying to improve the school by setting up new programs for students. One of the programs that they set up was a developmental guidance program for freshman. Special activities were used in the classrooms to improve study skills and enhance self-worth.

Dr. Essig commented, "We worked very hard to try and give the students the best possible advice in all their questions. Our reward was to see all these students grow up into fine young adults."

Science Department Upholds Past Quality

Although the science department decreased the number of classes offered and the number of teachers instructing these classes over the past few years, it still had the quality and dedication it had in the past.

Teachers were not only concerned with creating an atmosphere for the student to learn in, but an atmosphere of safety also. Safety rules were emphasized no matter what type of chemicals or materials were involved.

Mr. Bluth commented that for students interested in science careers "There are more job opportunities opening up in the fields of science technology and medical research." If this is where your interest lies, chances are you would probably enjoy taking some of the classes offered in these areas.

Mathematics Skills Required for Many Jobs

Math, Friend or Foe?

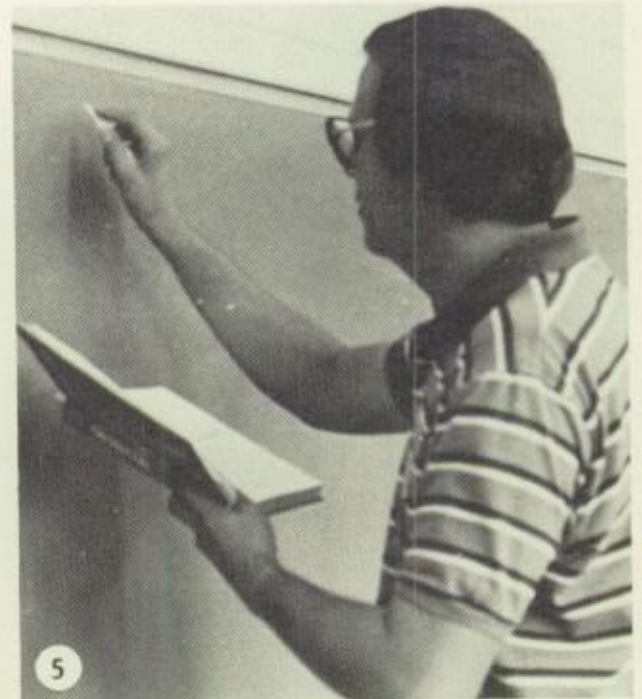

In today's job market, more math and computer techniques are being used. For this reason students are taking more of these types of courses.

Palo Verde offers General Math, Algebra, Geometry, Algebra 2, College Algebra, Calculus and Consumer Math. Also offered are classes that teach computer use such as Data Processing.

Two years of math are required, but with such a variety to choose from, many students decided to take additional courses in mathematics. This was especially true for students who had plans of entering college. Unfortunately, many students did not take extra math classes because they felt that they would not be able to pass more advanced classes.

The question then, of whether math is friend or foe, is one that the students must answer for themselves, depending on what career they wish to pursue.

Skills in English Are Necessary to Survive

Expression and Communication are very important skills to learn. Without one you can't have the other. To express yourself you need to communicate. By doing this you are expressing a little part of yourself.

Some teachers strive to teach the proper ways of communicating through written assignments, sentence structures and special projects. Preparing and delivering speeches was one of the special projects students participated in. Some other projects which students were required to participate in were reading a variety of books from "Planet of The Apes" to "A Tale of Two Cities."

Keeping up with English assignments and getting good grades was an important responsibility for students.

English Is Necessary For Communication

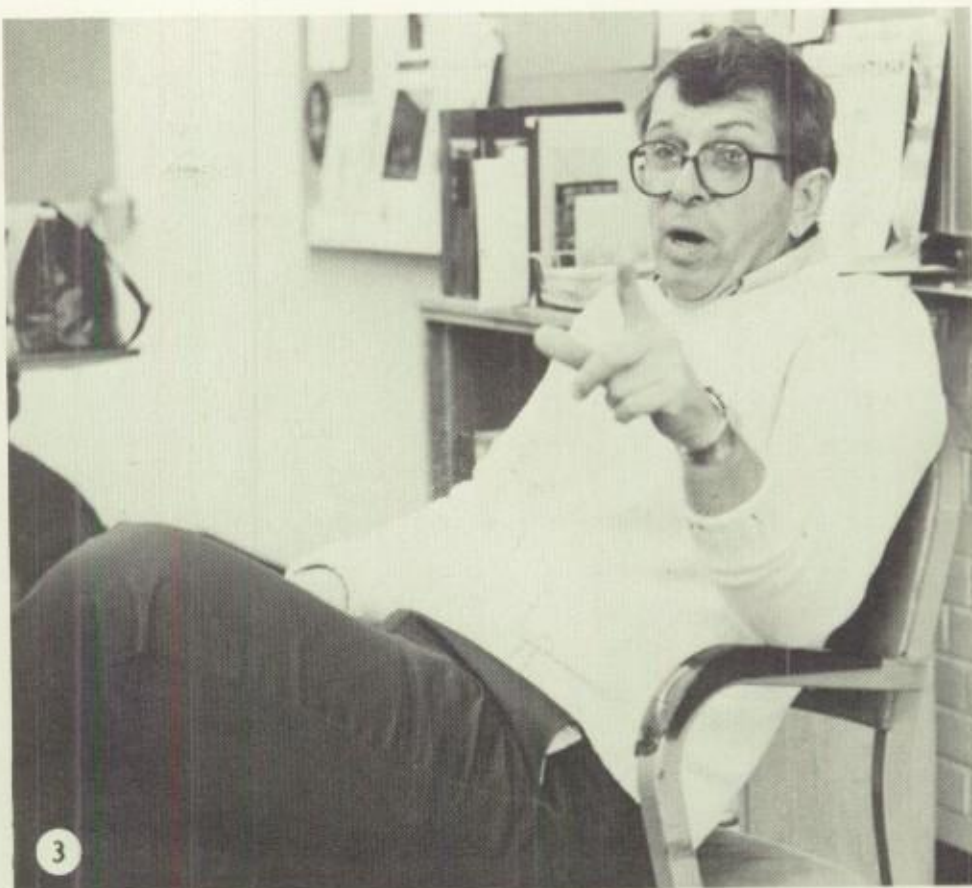

English is used everyday of ones life. It is something a person needs to know to communicate effectively.

Some students thought of English as being hard, but for others it seemed to come naturally. By listening and participating in class, everything seemed easier.

Besides the required English classes, there were other courses available for English credit. Among these were College Prep, College Writing, Speech, Journalism, G.A.T.E., and Honors English. These classes were designed to improve the student's skills in reading and writing.

Many students failed to understand the importance of English. Without knowing how to read and write properly, it is hard to communicate in today's world.

Students Aim High With Good Reason

When students decided to learn a foreign language they knew it was a high goal to set for themselves, but it was a very beneficial goal to aim for. After putting in a lot of hard work and meeting their goal, the students were able to communicate with people of another country.

What stopped most students from trying to learn a new language was the lack of variety in the Foreign Language Department. Spanish was the only language taught. However, those who tried Spanish not only learned to speak the language, they learned about the cultures of the people.

Although many people were disappointed at the lack of languages offered, those who took Spanish were usually pleased with the goal they set for themselves.

Poor Student Interest Cancels Speech Team

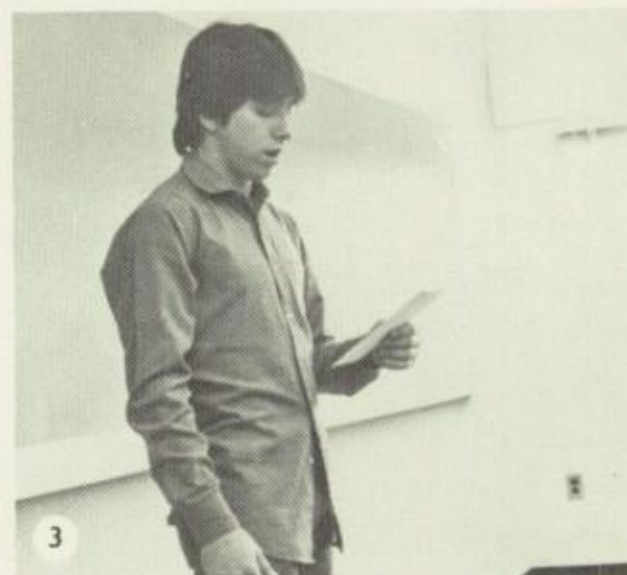

Palo Verde has offered speech since the school first opened in September of 1962. There had been a competitive speech team up until last year, but it was cancelled due to lack of interest from the students.

Even though there was not a great deal of interest in having a speech team, there was much interest in speech itself. The students who took speech felt it was a worthwhile course to have, for it gave students a chance to express themselves.

Speech students gave speeches as well as many other speaking exercises. These exercises included giving impromptu speeches and having debates.

Speech will most likely be around for as long as students continue to have an interest in it, and as long as there are funds to continue having it.

Social Studies Has Much to Offer Students

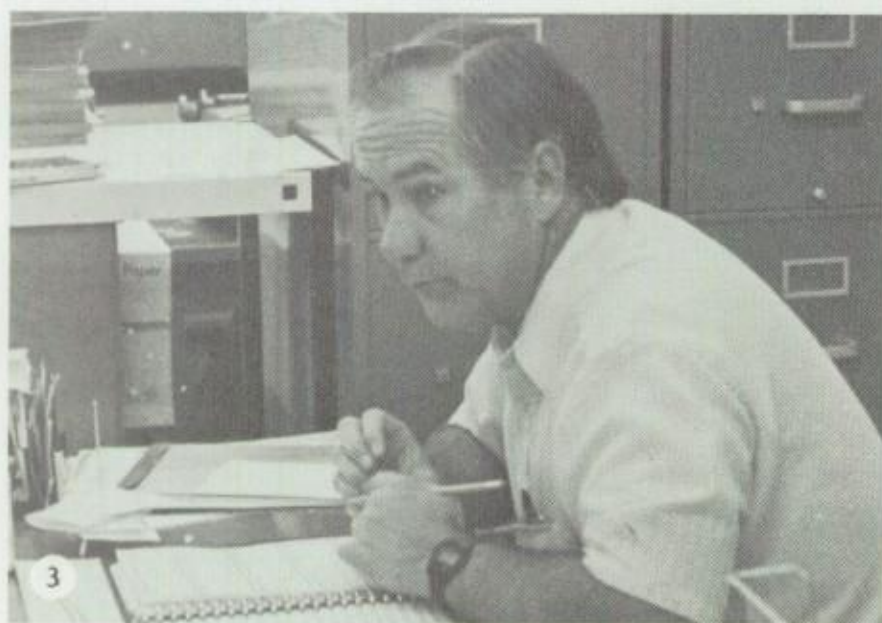

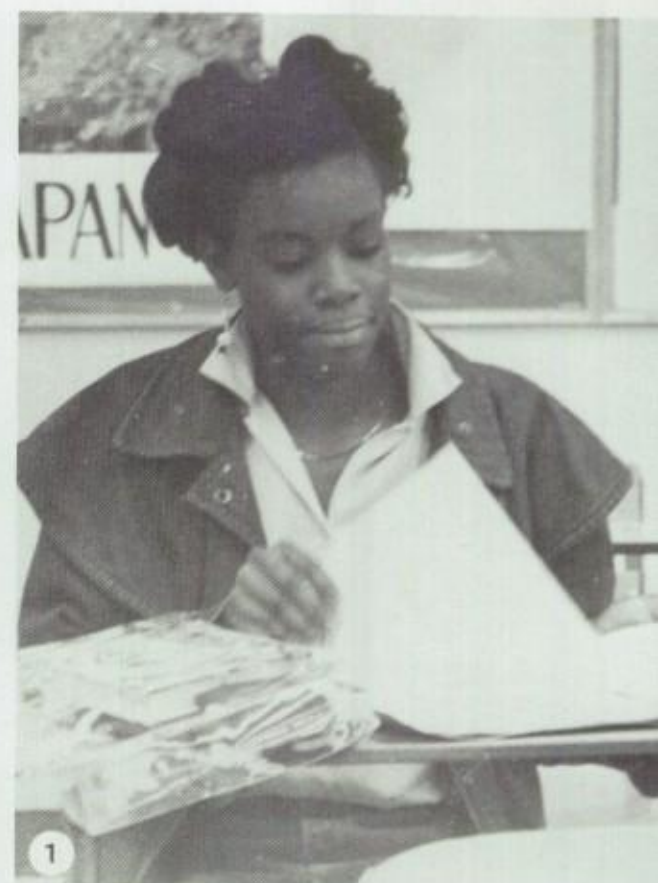

When students thought of Social Studies the first thing that came to mind was a dull lecture or reading a boring book. Everyone knows that all classes can get boring sometimes, but you have to take into consideration what you are learning from the class.

Social Studies included Free Enterprise, American Government, American History, Arizona Government, World Geography and World History. Mr. Dick commented that, "The classes teach you how our government works and also about our countries traditions and values."

Another important area which students learned about was the way in which our Free Enterprise system works and ways that the system doesn't work.

Students learned a lot about both the good and bad characteristics of our country. When you take that into consideration, the classes were worth taking.

Physical Education Class for Everyone

With more people trying to keep their bodies fit, the enrollment in the P.E. classes has increased. The variety of classes to choose from was also an encouragement to the students. There was a class for almost every area of interest.

Every year the P.E. Department has held a physical fitness test called the Super Titan. The contest gave the students the opportunity to use the skills they learned in their P.E. classes.

The students went through a series of tests to see who was the strongest, fastest and had the most endurance. The arm-hang was to test strength, the shuttle run was for speed, and the 1½ mile run was to test endurance. The winners were Lynn Loftus and Lester Yeatts.

One student said, "I looked forward to P.E. every day because I had a lot of fun."

Survival is Purpose of Health/Driver's Ed.

Methods of survival was emphasized in both Health and Driver's Ed.

In Health, students learned many ways of helping themselves. One of the many ways Miss Patterson taught students was to have guest speakers come in and discuss various subjects from Planned Parenthood to the Right-To-Life movement. She also made students aware of rape and child abuse.

Mr. Ford stressed many very important points on safe driving by showing movies of fatal car accidents and by bringing in guest speakers on law enforcement. Students also learned about laws that effect the way they drive. The simulators helped students to learn to drive in all types of weather and traffic situations.

Through demonstrations and discussions, Mr. Ford tried to teach students skills that they would need for the rest of their lives.

Home Economics Was Easy and Educational

Home Economics was an area that was fun and easy. Skills were taught which could be a help in everyday life. Among classes offered were, Foods 1, Foods 2, Clothing 1, and Clothing 2.

Foods 1 and 2 dealt with sanitation, food spoilage, and especially reading recipes and food labels. Special projects included making gingerbread houses, which were a big success with the students.

Clothing teaches the students how to make pants, t-shirts and other basic outfits. Advanced Clothing gives students the opportunity to select their own project based on previous skills. Special projects in Clothing class included making soft sculptured dolls during second semester.

All in all, Home Economics teaches the basic skills needed in homemaking, and many other careers.

Industrial Education Helps Students Learn

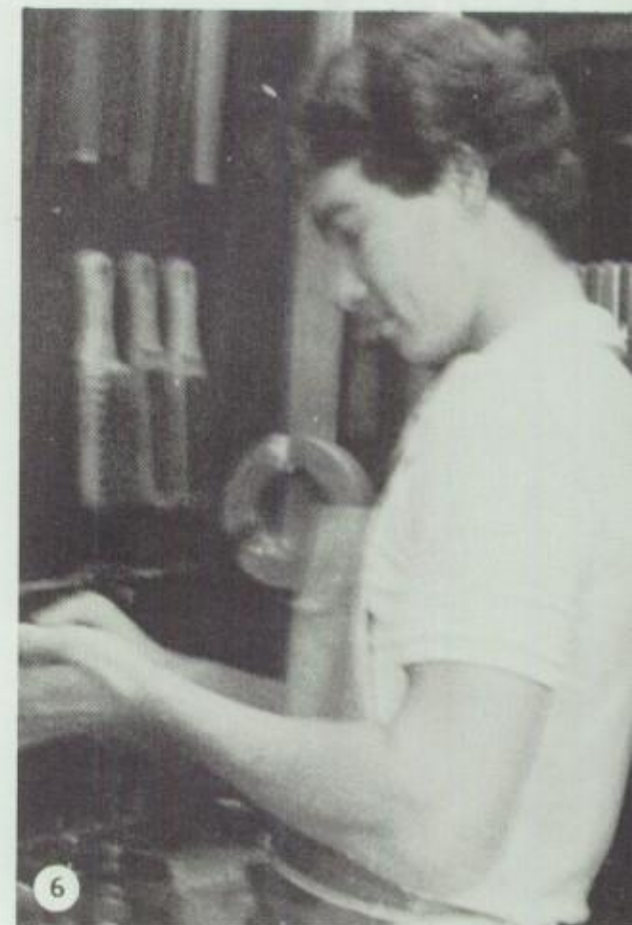

Industrial Education classes were a big help when it came to choosing a career or a lot of fun when it came to learning a hobby.

A student could take Graphic Arts or General Metals. After completing these classes they could continue on to some of the more advanced classes. These classes also introduced the students to the importance of safety in using the different types of machinery.

There were many different types of Industrial Education to satisfy every student's interest. Classes students had to choose from included Auto Mechanics, Machine Shop, Graphic Arts, General Metals, Welding, Drafting and Wood Shop.

With so many classes to choose from, students often took more than one of the Industrial Education classes to further their knowledge or just for fun. All in all, it proved to be a helpful experience to most students.

Students Discover if Business Is for Them

Teaching skills that could help students decide on their future was one purpose of Business Education. Students found out if they were or were not interested in areas such as secretarial work, computer programming, accounting and several other areas of the business world.

Many students already knew that they did not want a career in Business, but they took one or more of the classes to learn skills which can be helpful in everyday life. For example, typing was a great skill when it came time to do essays or term papers. It was a lot faster than writing and often made the paper look more presentable. Also, shorthand was very useful in classes which required notetaking; students could take a lot more notes in less time.

Even if students found out that business was not where they wanted to be, they could still benefit from the class.

Students Use Artistic Abilities in Fine Arts

Butterflies and the jitters were all a part of performing in front of an audience. Band, Orchestra and vocal students all experienced these feelings some time during the school year.

In choir, members were spread out between Beginning Choir, Treblettes, Concert Choir and Jubileers, depending on the students ability to sing.

Students who wanted to be in band had the choice of being in Advanced Band, Instrumental Band, Jazz Ensemble and Music Theory. In the fall, the Advanced Band marched at football games and for competition. They also played in concert competition.

For students who were not interested in the musical area of Fine Arts, there was General Arts. General Arts gave students the chance to use their artistic abilities. One student commented, "Fine Arts gave me a chance to do something I really enjoy doing."

Adaptive Ed. Gives Students A Chance

Palo Verde offered a wide variety of classes to benefit students. Until 1974, when Adaptive Ed. started, there were no programs available to help students who had trouble with some subjects.

Adaptive Ed. included most required courses. Teachers gave students as much help as they could with other classes not offered by Adaptive Education. What made the teachers more capable of helping students was the difference in the classroom situation. Students worked at their own rate of speed. Teaching was done on an individual basis, and extra help was there if it was needed.

By putting all of these different methods together, students were given a much better chance of staying in school to receive their education.

Helping Out Is the Goal of Student Services

Student Services goal was to help the students. This included the bookstore attendants, librarians and the school nurse.

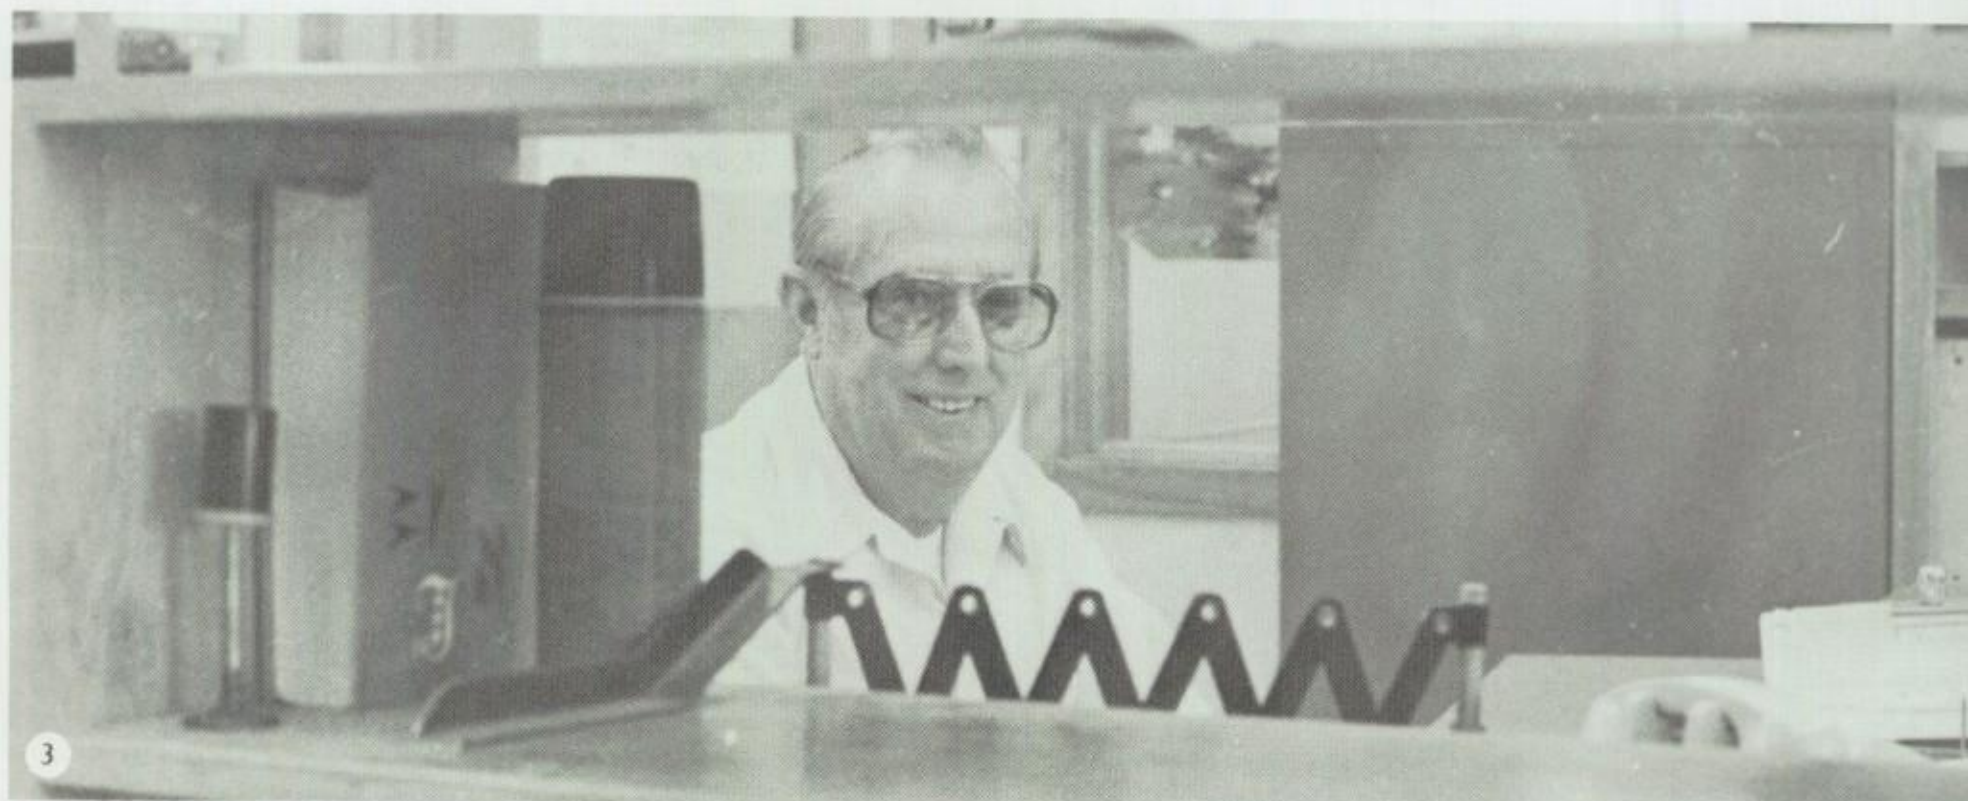

Mr. Hoovler, bookstore manager, was assisted by Irene Benitez and Ray Kyte. The attendants not only sold books, but also sold supplies and collected money for clubs and sports.

Librarians were available to help students in finding just the right book for what they needed. The head librarian was Mrs. Kim.

Mrs. Freeman, the head nurse, not only treated the students for different illnesses, but also treated them with understanding and concern.

All of these people, with help from their assistants, have done many helpful things for the students at Palo Verde.

Personnel Make Sure School Runs Smooth

A group of people who kept Palo Verde running smoothly included the secretaries, janitors, hall monitors and cafeteria workers.

Secretaries took care of all the paper work and assisted the administration with their heavy work loads as well.

The hall monitors were always around making sure that everyone was where they were supposed to be. They kept peace in and out of the halls.

Cafeteria workers were constantly trying to serve the students meals that were well-balanced as well as nutritious. They were usually very cheerful and happy, even when students complained.

All in all, Palo Verde students were very lucky to have such a qualified and cheerful group of people working with them.

ORGANIZATIONS

Band Members Keep Busy During the Year

A busy and successful season was had by the Titan Vanguard members. As well as marching at football games, they participated and did well in four major competitions.

Band received Superior ratings at both the Palo Verde March of Excellence and a similar competition hosted by Coronado High School in Phoenix. They brought home a Nunamaker award from U. of A. Band Day for receiving top scores in all captions, and went on to become the state champions at the State Marching Festival.

The new Vanguard Dancers were also special to the band. The Dancers replaced the Songleaders because they could devote more time to dance and could work more directly with the band.

"This band exemplifies a title, 'Vanguard,' and I love what they stand for. It's what makes me work so hard," commented Leslie.

Jazz Band, A Fun Way of Music Expression

Playing great jazz was the goal of the Jazz Band. Mr. Leslie said the musicians in this group learned "a whole new medium of music expression, which is fun to play."

Wrestling matches and basketball games were two places where the Jazz Band expressed their musical abilities and their school spirit. They also played for a few local schools.

In May, the Jazz Band performed Jazz Under the Stars.

This was an outdoor jazz concert performed in the courtyard at Palo Verde. It was described by Mr. Leslie as, "two hours of fun and really good jazz.."

For students who joined the Jazz Band, it gave them a chance to perform a different type of music than they would perform in a concert band. One member said, "Jazz Band gave me a chance to experience playing a new and fun type of music."

Orchestra Helps Develop Performing Skills

Public performance was the ultimate goal for orchestra members. Through these programs students were able to demonstrate to others what they had learned. Director Mary Rodda said, "Orchestra is fun when students work together. We have an excellent group this year."

The orchestra played at and attended several festivals. They participated in several choral concerts at Palo Verde, as well as competing with other high school orchestras. Their final performance was for the Baccalaureate Services before graduation activities were held.

Another activity orchestra members took part in was raising money for transportation, dresses and jackets. To raise the necessary money they sold candy bars, cheese and sausage.

Over all, orchestra members had a good year and they enjoyed themselves while doing so.

Playing Advanced Music Was Goal of Bands

Learning to play more advanced music and gaining a sense of accomplishment was the goal of the Palo Verde Symphonic Winds and Vanguardia Brass.

Vanguardia Brass was a small brass ensemble of selected players from the band who were capable of playing more difficult music. They participated in several concerts and contests. They received a Superior Rating at the Solo and Ensemble Festival.

Symphonic Winds was made up of woodwind as well as brass players. This class aimed to teach advanced players play their instruments even better. Some students also learned to play new instruments.

Both groups participated in a joint concert with the U. of A. band and in Moonlight Melodies at Palo Verde.

"It was a learning experience. I learned a new instrument and a lot more about music."

Choirs Are More Serious About Singing

After returning from a year's leave of absence, Mr. Moore noticed that the choirs appeared to have a much more serious attitude and a stronger motivation to do well.

Although choir was a fun class, it also required some practicing on singing the notes at the right tone and beat.

Due to the size of the Concert Choir, many thought it was too big of a class to teach, but to Mr. Moore, it wasn't hard at all. Mr. Moore said he enjoyed a larger group because it put out a larger sound.

Beginning Choir, which consisted of both guys and girls, took the place of two separate classes, the Beginning Boys' and the Beginning Girls' Choir. Having the two choirs combined made the class more enjoyable for the students.

Singing in four big concerts a year may not seem like much, but to the choir members it was an exciting challenge.

Raising Money Keeps The Choirs Motivated

Raising funds can be fun when the money goes for travel. Some of the money was used for a trip to Flagstaff where they participated in a concert.

Members of Jubileers and Trebelettes had many opportunities to display their artistic abilities throughout the course of the year.

Singing at places other than Palo Verde was only part of the choirs' activities. It was an exciting challenge for many of the choir members. In March, the choirs went to Sahuaro High School to sing in a concert called "Choral Classics."

To Mr. Moore, it seemed like the students who participated in choir had less trouble in communicating with others. Mr. Moore commented "People who sing are naturally expressive."

Singing, being expressive and traveling throughout the state and community made being in the choirs worthwhile and fun.

Capricians Dance in Attractive Ways

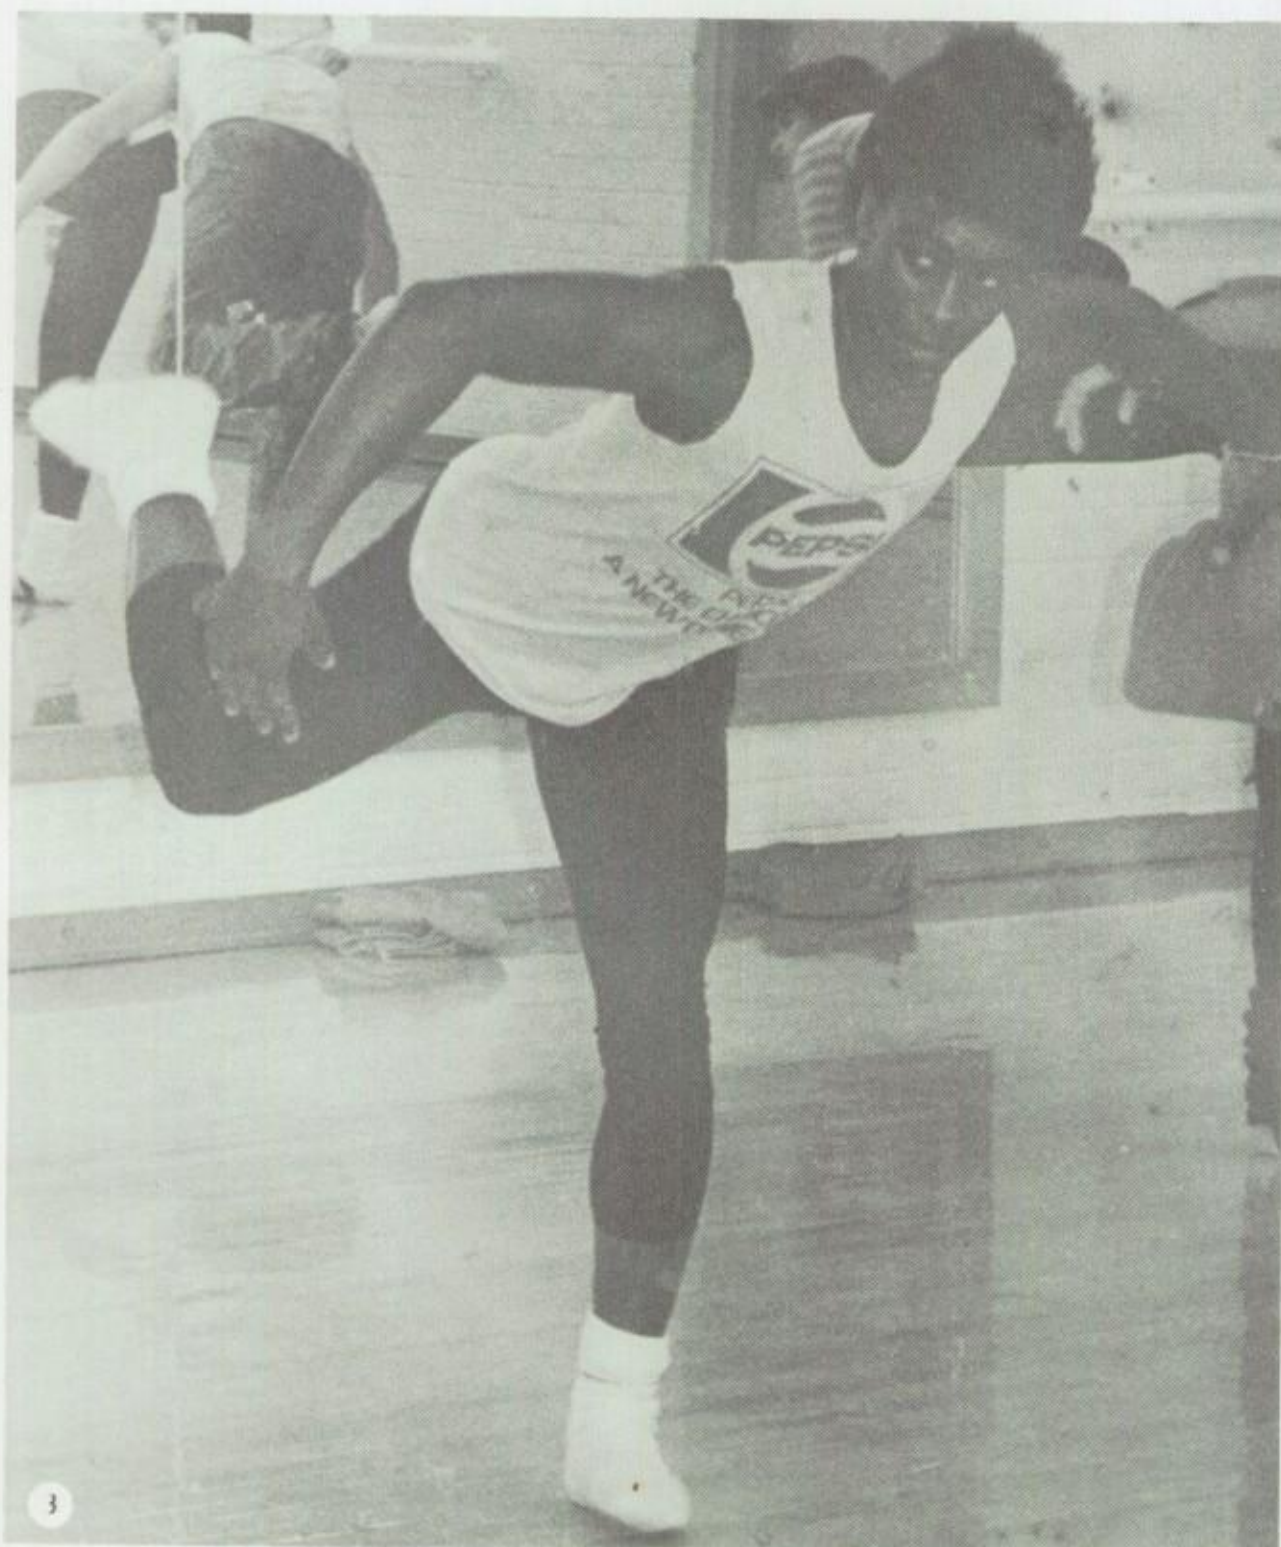

Performing the fine arts in a way that was both creative and attractive was the main goal of the Capricians.

In beginning dance, the students started developing their dance skills, but as a Caprician it was expected that the dancers knew the basic steps and were working on and performing more advanced and more difficult techniques.

One of the problems that the Capricians faced was that they were considered to be in the PE department. Mrs. Cheeseman, the dance instructor, commented that dancing is a fine art and by being considered a PE class the dancers were not always given the credit they deserved as artists.

Dancer Julie Jungen summed up her feelings as to why she enjoyed being a Caprician saying, "When choreographing a dance it is like expressing a part of yourself, sometimes just getting out on the floor and dancing makes your day."

Exciting Students Is Goal of Pep Squads

Being energetic and getting the students hyped was the goal of the pep squads.

Something new this year was that P.V. had male cheerleaders. When asked what he liked best about being a cheerleader, Jeff Neff said, "Working with all the female cheerleaders, because in cheerleading you work one-on-one with the girls and you develop a certain understanding between each other that will last forever."

Songleaders still worked at football games as they had in the past, but they no longer performed with the band. According to the pep squad advisor, Miss Seely, practicing with the band took up too much of everyone's time.

When asked what she liked best about the pep squads, Miss Seely replied, "I enjoyed the opportunity to be involved with a group of such close and spirited people."

Wrestlerettes Work to Motivate the School

Helping motivate the wrestlers and to encourage school spirit was the main goal for the many Wrestlerettes.

For the first time, the Wrestlerettes had three teams; Varsity, J.V., and Freshman. One of the reasons that the Wrestlerettes were able to motivate the school and wrestlers was that they were very unified.

Due to the fact that the Wrestlerettes did not have a formal director, it really was an effort by the students to become a good team. "Unlike the other cheerleaders, we made the team work by ourselves and were probably more dedicated than others." mentioned one wrestlerette.

The wrestlerette captain, Tracy Clark, summed it up by saying "The best thing about being a wrestlerette was the feeling that came from knowing that we and the wrestlers were representing Palo Verde."

Changes In The Yearbook For The Better

Editor Kris Roberts mentioned that there were a lot of changes in the yearbook, "hopefully for the better!".

The biggest change was the new Apple Computer. The Apple was used for many things including layout, copy counting and indexing. Mickey Beitel, last year's index editor, commented, "Last year we had a lot of problems with indexing. We hope that the new computer will help cut out some of those problems."

Producing a yearbook is a lot of hard work. Many of the people on the staff found this to be true. "It is a lot of work, but it is just as much fun. We are the few, the proud, the Olympian Staff," laughed Organizations Editor, Renee Giblin.

Everyone felt that their work and effort had paid off when the completed yearbooks finally arrived.

Post Staff Works to Keep School Spirited

Keeping the school unified and informed was the main purpose of the Palo Verde Post. The staff strived to gather information that would interest the students, while at the same time build school spirit.

For most of the students on the staff, having the opportunity to get experience in journalism made the class more than worthwhile. "Not only was the class a blast, but it was also a chance to get some of my material published before I am even out of high school and that was pretty neat," commented staff member Jimmy Grimes.

Also, the staff took pride in working to unite the school in a fun way. "We like to think of ourselves as a paper for the students, by the students, and of the students," laughed Joey Lorey.

The staff was open to all students who felt they had something to add to Palo Verde by way of the newspaper.

Clubs' Main Goal Is Improving Education

Two clubs that were aimed at furthering students education were the Close Up Program and the Academic Decathlon.

Those students who were involved in Close Up studied political issues. "Studying politics sounds really scary, but actually it is really interesting," mentioned member Lauren Dean.

For the members on the Academic Decathlon, studying became a very familiar word. The members used all the information they learned throughout the year during a competition in February. The winners were awarded money prizes. Though the money was a motive to be in the club for Cynthia DeHoff, the real rewards were, "A feeling of accomplishment, and after all the work you have done you can go out and win."

Both of the clubs were open to any interested student, and they offered every student the opportunity to have fun while learning at the same time.

Learning About Photography Is Exciting

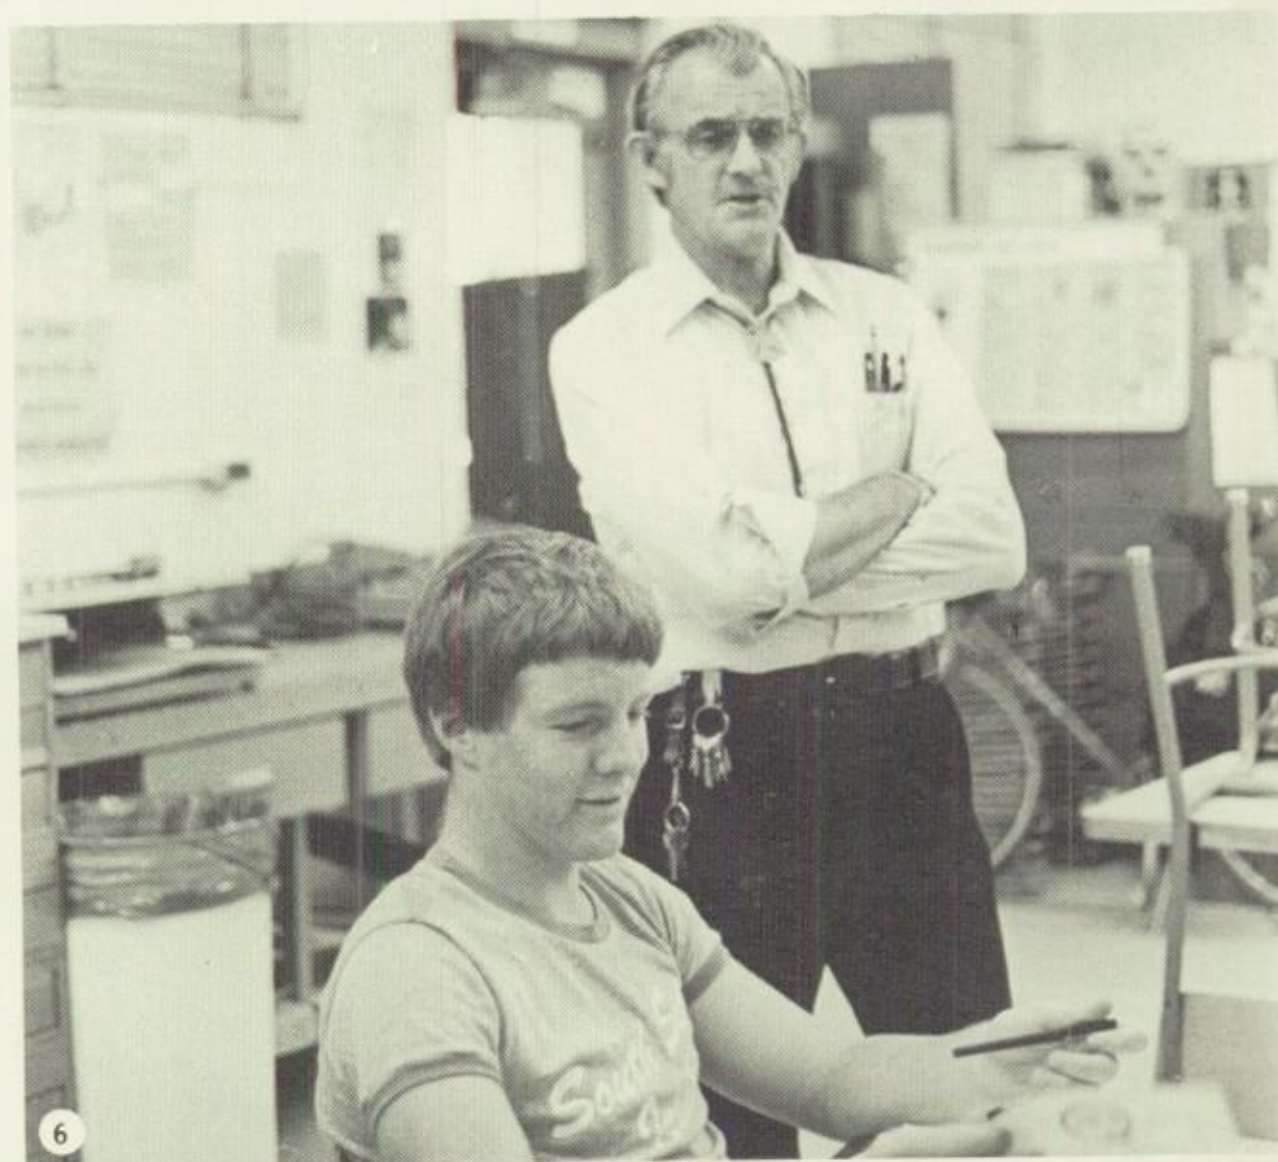

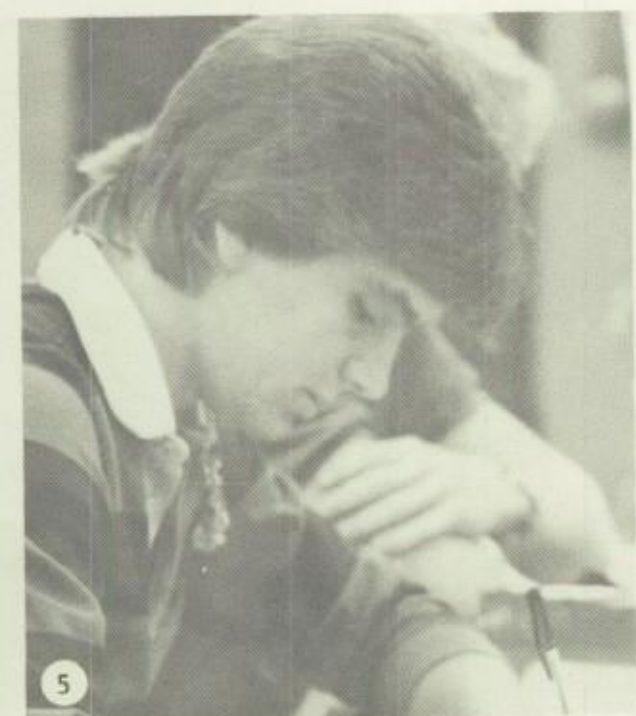

Titan Lite Writers and Photo Publications were popular clubs for students who were interested in photography. Lite Writers club was open to all students. Photo Pub, on the other hand, was a club made up of only advanced photographers.

Producing pictures for Yearbook and Post was the main purpose of Photo Pub. Members also participated in contests and exhibits.

Professional photographers came to demonstrate different aspects of photography to the Lite Writers. Another activity which the Lite Writers participated in was the hosting of a school photo contest. The contest was open to all students attending Palo Verde.

One Lite Writer member said, "I learned more about photography by getting in a lot of experience that I wouldn't have had otherwise, and it was really fun."

Promoting Spirit is Main Goal for Senate

Student Body Officers and Senate did a lot for our school. They worked for the students as well as for the faculty.

Some of the things the officers did was to coordinate assemblies to promote spirit, and organize spirit week by planning each day of the week. They also sponsored several dances including those held after football games. The officers also approved fund raisers for all clubs and loaned money to clubs that needed it.

The Senate is made up of a president, secretary, and many representatives that were selected by each homeroom. Each representative expressed their opinions in meetings and relayed the news back to their homeroom. One of the many successful activities the Senate held was their annual blood drive.

Student Body Officers as well as Senate did much to improve the school and to promote school spirit.

Clubs Work to Prepare Students for Future

DECA and Model Legislature were groups aimed at teaching students about future career possibilities.

Students in DECA were juniors and seniors interested in learning how businesses operate. In February, DECA participated in the winter regional where they acted out business deals with the judge of the competition and were given points based on how well the deal was carried out. They also participated in a winter regional competition.

Model Legislature worked all year towards the goal of proposing and passing bills made up by the members. Also, at the end of the year they had the use of the Senate building where they proposed bills to other Model Leg. chapters and the bills were voted on by the other students.

Students in both groups enjoyed working with their fellow members.

Clubs Work to Prepare Students for Future

Two clubs that were aimed at furthering a students experience in life were Boys' and Girls' State and Jobs for Arizona Graduates.

To become involved in Boys' and Girls' State, students were chosen by the faculty. They were selected on the basis of their academic achievements and their involvement in the community. Students were able to learn about their state government by actually experiencing running for office.

JAG was a club which was designed to help seniors find jobs. It taught the students many things such as how to write resumes, fill out applications, and earn a living on their own. Most of all, the club helped the students find a career which interested them.

Both clubs gave students the opportunity to learn about themselves and how to survive on their own.

Clubs Offer Students Learning Experiences

AFS, Future Teachers of America and the Drama Club were clubs that offered students an educational experience.

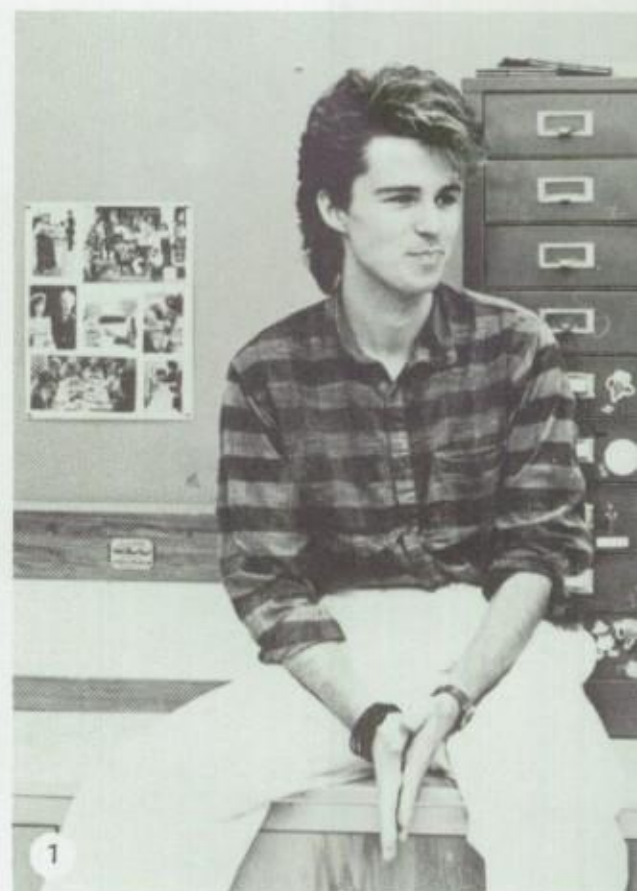

AFS, American Field Service, was a club to those who were interested in foreign countries. AFS advisor, Mr. Elmer, said that students have a tendency to get caught up in their own worlds and not explore the entire world. The goal was to combat the "limited world" attitude.

Future Teachers of America was for students who were interested in a teaching career. The club helped members to get a good idea of what teaching was going to be like.

The Drama Club, which was reinstated this year, worked to give students experience in acting and production.

These clubs provided students with the opportunity to explore themselves as well as the world around them.

NHS Helps the School and Community

National Honor Society was one of the most active groups in the state this year. They organized many programs and activities that helped the community and school.

NHS was one of two clubs which worked with the Special Olympics. They also organized the Easter Seal Olympics. Members worked with Casa de los Ninos and organized Honors Night and Open House. These programs offered students a chance to work with new people in different situations and gave them extra experience they would need later in life.

NHS was meant to recognize students who excelled in all aspects of education. In order to be in NHS, faculty members voted on students' service, character and leadership abilities. Students also had to maintain at least a 3.4 cumulative grade average and be involved in at least three extra-curricular activities.

Jr. Civitan and Auto Club Teach Good Skills

Jr. Civitan is a club for helping the retarded people of the community.

Members of the club enjoyed working with these people. One of the projects they participated in was the Special Olympics, which was held in the spring. They also helped the school by picking up trash from the grounds and getting rid of the writing on the school walls. Meilii Houck said, 'We were very active and excited.'

The Auto Club helped students gain experience in auto repair. To be a member of the Auto Club a student must have completed beginning and advanced auto shop. The club raised money for auto supplies.

Both of these clubs help different people in different ways. Jr. Civitan helped members become more aware of problems other people have. Auto Club helped its members to prepare for a future in auto repair.

Popular Clubs Provide Many Activities

Bowling Club and Ski Club were two of the more well-liked clubs for students to participate in. Both clubs had many students involved with activities.

Like the Bowling Club, the Ski Club was open to all Palo Verde students with or without experience.

The goal of the Bowling Club members was to improve averages and to have a successful bowling season. The club was divided into eight teams with three players on a team. Both individual and team trophies were awarded to the high bowlers at the end of the season.

Several long hours on a bus may seem tiresome, but to the Ski Club members, it was worthwhile and exciting.

The main purpose of each of these clubs was for students to be involved in a school sponsored activity, and also to be able to enjoy themselves.

Culture Clubs Aim to

Oriental Culture club and the Ebony-Chicano club were both open to all students interested in learning about different Cultures, past and present.

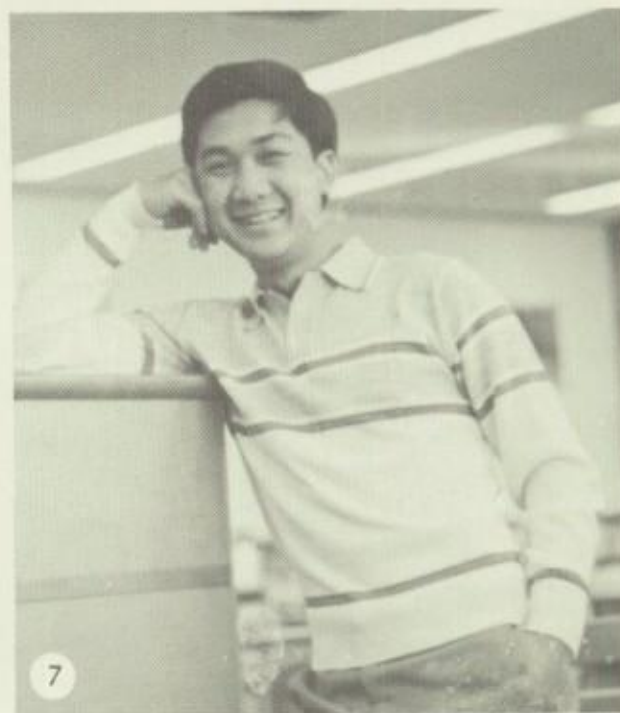

For the Oriental Culture club, providing students with a better understanding of Oriental and American cultures was important. The club participated in various activities throughout the school year, such as the Chinese New Year's display. The members of the club also enjoyed competing against each other in kite contests and having oriental banquets.

Like the Oriental Culture club, the Ebony-Chicano club raised funds in several ways. The Ebony-Chicano club held dances, carwashes and sold pom-poms.

Raising funds and gaining information about their ethnic backgrounds made being in the culture clubs worthwhile and fun for everyone involved.

Teaching Communication Purpose of Club

Sign language and Printing Production were both clubs dealing with different types of communications. People using sign language communicate with their hands while Printing Production communicates with the printed word.

The purpose of a Sign language club was for students to learn a new language. Mr. Kowalcek mentioned that "it was easy to teach the students and to communicate with them."

Printing Production students put together most of the programs, tickets and booklets for school activities. By using the printing presses, folding machine, camera, and paper cutter, printing production members were able to meet their deadlines.

What the students learned during the year in both of these clubs could be useful to them in their future.

Varsity Works Hard On Passing Defense

Passing defense was one of the teams strong points. The Titans finished eighth in passing defense in the city. "We hope to do better next year," said Coach Bool.

Through hard work and determination, next year's football team hopes to have a winning season, and should do so with the help of the upcoming J.V. players.

Most of the offense was strengthened by junior runningback Greg Johnson and by runningback-quarterback Patrick Gipson. Junior quarterback Paul Carrizosa was also a high point in the exciting Titan offense.

Varsity Team Shows A Lot of Great Talent

Small numbers and a lack of size was what kept the varsity football team from going to the limits. "We did well with the things we had" commented Coach Larry Bool.

Most teams around the city had at least 50 students try out for their team. Palo Verde only had a little over 30 students show up opening day.

There were several returning lettermen which helped the team, especially in the big games. The team finished eighth in passing defense and should improve more next year. Besides a strong defense, there was a good ground attack which consisted of junior runningback Greg Johnson(sixth in rushing in the Southern Division).

Aggressiveness Is the J.V., Frosh Main Goal

It was a team effort for the J. V., Freshman football teams. Being aggressive was J.V.'s main goal for the year. "I only asked for 100 per cent from all our guys, and I have received that from all of them," commented Coach Droegemeier.

The offense was led by Burke Harrison and Bobby McCormick.

Small Numbers Keep Swimmers From Top

"With what we had, the season was a success. With five guys healthy and only three eligible each week it's hard to win", commented varsity swimmer Devin Price. Price, who swam the 100-yard butterfly and qualified for state, set the fifth fastest time in school history in that particular race this year.

Bruce Avram was also a good swimmer as he qualified for state in the 100-yard backstroke but didn't do as well as he anticipated.

On the girls team, senior Tawnya Jenkins had an exceptional season as she qualified second in state, but finished in ninth place. She also swam the 100-yard butterfly and finished in eighth place. Junior Taylor Morrow also qualified for state. The girls relay team finished second in divisionals but were disqualified because of a false start.

Lady Titans Go To State and Take Second

A 19-2 record was held by the Lady Titans as they went into the city volleyball tournament. Palo Verde beat Salpointe in divisionals to take first and advance to the state playoffs.

At the tournament, Palo Verde won their first two matches which put them in the final game against Mountain View. They lost this game to take second in the state. Coach

Krucker said "they were unselfish individuals and it was my pleasure to coach them."

J.V. team members also had a very good season. They ended with a 9-3 record. Coach Patterson commented, "This was a very enjoyable season. There were fifteen talented young ladies that really wanted to play volleyball and they played well. I loved it."

Titans Take Fifth in Holiday Tournament

The Titans turned some heads at the beginning of their '84-'85 season by going into the Holiday Tournament with a 4-2 record. The most decisive victory of the four wins came against Salpointe. With three minutes left in the third quarter, Palo Verde scored thirty unanswered points, and went on to win the game 68 to 37.

Dennis Martin led the team in scoring, with an average of about seventeen points a game. Key players to Palo Verde's inside game were senior forwards Carl Thurber, Jeff Sorenson and junior Ruben Felix. Each player gave a great effort on both the offensive and defensive rebounding. Leading the team in assists was junior guard Kevin Crabtree.

Coach Hopkins commented, "we are a well-balanced and competent team that has a chance to win any of our games. With a lot of hard work and determination we hope to take first in our division."

Height Was Not All That Helped Players

Height and experience paid off for the 84-85 J.V. basketball team. With Sophomores Larry Horvath, Nate McClendon, John Mobbly, and David Clark, all six foot tall or more, the Titans definitely gave their opposing teams something to think about.

Besides their height, experience paid off as well. During the summer, many members of the team played and practiced to keep in shape and to better their skills.

Both J.V. and Freshman teams practiced several hours daily to prepare themselves for their games. Despite having only nine players, the J.V. squad finished with a 7-12 record.

Although the Freshman Titans were a small team, they started the season off with a bang by winning their first three games. The rest of the season was a disappointment as they finished with no additional victories. The Freshman squad finished with a 3-13 overall record.

Soccer Teams Play For First Year

For the first time in Palo Verde's history, Soccer was played as a Varsity sport. "We did well with it being our first year in competition" commented a player.

Teams such as Salpointe, Catalina and Amphi have had a soccer program for many years so they were favored to win. They are all in the North league of the AAA-south.

Strong victories were a main part in the season for both girls and boys teams. Such victories like 7-0 and 3-0 were much needed for momentum going into the next game. Both teams were strong competitors and finished high in the standings in the South league.

Golfers and Trainers Are Par for the Year

Although the golf team was mainly sophomores and had only two returning players, the team still performed quite well, according to Coach Robert Donnelly. Two outstanding team members were Tim Houck and Darin Rohling. Coach Donnelly pointed out that "The entire team has improved noticeably over last year's team."

The team's record was 6-8, and they placed eighth in divisionals. As for future expectations, Donnelly commented "The team is doing so well that I think if the players just stick with it we'll make it to the state championships."

Student trainers, who were instructed by head trainer Bob Casmus, played an important role during the fall sports season. One of their jobs was to prevent injuries by wrapping and taping athletes before practice and games. "Being a trainer was a fun experience because I learned a lot and got to meet new people", stated student trainer Sharon Wagner.

Practice Helps Girls Varsity, J.V. Players

After a disappointing 83-84 season, the 84-85 lady basketball Titans hoped to do better. Under the direction of the new head coach, Barry Wilson, the varsity team through hard work and determination worked for a successful season. Their goal was to participate in the play-offs.

Both the J.V. and the varsity practiced many hours daily to prepare themselves for their regular season games. In practice, the two teams worked hard on basic fundamental drills to improve their skills.

Although they were a small team, the J.V. players did not let their size get them down. Ursula Sproule commented "Coach Starkey expected 110 per cent out of all her players."

Cross Country Team Strives for the Best

With four returning lettermen in a group of aspiring students, there was little doubt that the Boy's cross country team was headed for a winning season. The key to their success was a great deal of effort and a strong desire to be the best.

The team's combined effort produced a quite acceptable win-loss ratio of 11-4. In addition, the team placed third in southern divisionals, and went on to take fourth place in State. The most outstanding runners at the meet were Lester Yeatts and Don Day, who came in third and fourth respectively. Laura Goodwin, a representative of the girl's team, was the champion of the meet.

Wrestler Enthusiasm Help Each Other Out

Varsity wrestling members had a lot of enthusiasm, especially when it came to cheering for a teammate on the mat.

The rivalry between Santa Rita and Palo Verde has been going on for the past couple of years. To show the superiority of the team that wins the match, there is a special trophy that the winning team keeps until the two teams meet again.

"A lot of the guys would get together and run on their own outside of practice to improve their skills even more," commented varsity wrestler Jamie Davis. When it came to practice the team had a great attitude. They started practice off with a form of yoga called "Sunsalutation."

Practice Helps Frosh J.V. to Good Records

J.V. and Freshman wrestlers weren't disappointed with their 7-3 and 8-2 records. "I felt we could've won the three matches we lost, but the other schools were just lucky" commented J.V. wrestler David Rios.

J. V. and freshman wrestlers practiced for two and a half hours a day after school. Practice started with stretching, calisthenics, perfecting moves and ended with an hour of wrestling. They also ran in the gym to build up their stamina.

Since the wrestling squads all practiced together, the J.V. challenged the varsity squads to duals. This helped the J.V. team for future wrestling matches.

Varsity Players Know Future Brings Victory

Although the Varsity softball team had four returning players, their record was not as good as was first expected. It became evident, when many of their games were rained out, that fate wouldn't be on their side.

The team's disappointing season record was not due to the lack of talent, according to player Debbie Martyn. "The main handicap our team faced was that we didn't have enough practice". She added "I think that the players learned quite a few things during the season which will contribute to making a better team next year."

Although the varsity team didn't do so well, the JV won many of their games.

Small Teams Do Not Hinder Girls Abilities

Having a small team was a disadvantage for the girls varsity and J.V. teams. Since the teams were so small, Coach Russell Mead could not put a girl in each individual event.

Junior Laura Goodwin, who placed first in the girls state cross country championships, once again led the team in the long distance races. She was helped out by senior Lisa Glauvitz and Sophomore Lynn Southard in those particular races.

In the sprints, the team was led by freshman Jennifer Hamilton. "I felt the team was very strong with the number of people we had running" stated Hamilton.

Boys Cindermen Run For A Championship

With eight returning letterman, the track team looked to be contenders. "It's a jammin' team" commented senior Tom Tope. Tope, a 400-meter runner, anticipated that the team would take first place in the division.

An unfortunate loss occurred to the team when Don Day, who took second in the state finals in the 800-meter dash as a junior, broke his leg in the off-season but still managed to run in a few of the last meets.

The 4X100-meter relay, which consisted of Patrick Gipson, Tope, Mickey Beitel, and Greg Johnson, placed fifth in divisionals last year and returned this year to try to place higher.

Enthusiasm and Skill Helps Netters to Win

At the beginning of the season, there was a great turn-out of students wanting to be on the girl's tennis team. The team was consequently made up of many skilled players, which gave it a decided advantage over other schools..

An inside source stated, "Although last year's team was good, our coach this year had some excellent ideas about tennis-playing, and she introduced a 'new system' which gave us a definite edge."

The fact that the team had to drink water from tennis ball cans was amusing and it has almost become a tradition.

Baseball Teams Swing For an Excellent Year

With very few returnees, the varsity baseball team still had an excellent record. The team finished second in an opening season tournament.

"Our strength was in hitting, but we haven't brought it together yet" commented varsity pitcher Robbie Manjarre. Manjarre, who was a junior, hoped the team would go to the state tournament this year.

With second-year coach Mark Brunenkant, the J.V. baseball team looked for a better record than last year. The team was taller than most other J.V. teams because of sophomores Nate McClendon and Tim Houck.

Having Fun Is A Goal For Many Students

What do most students look forward to? The weekend of course. Students were found at such places as 17 poles, Speedway Blvd., and Golf-n-Things.

Some students found joy in being able to sleep until noon while others wanted to start having fun as early as possible. Part of having fun was being able to spend free time being involved with friends.

Since being involved usually meant fun, most students tried to get involved in as many activities as possible. One way to be involved was to join one or more of the clubs that were offered before or after school or to have a job to earn extra money.

At any rate, people were always trying to get the most out of themselves and out of their time.

Friends and School Go Hand in Hand

Hanging around campus with friends was a popular thing to do. Many students took advantage of the lunch periods and the time that was permitted between classes. People took a few minutes out of a busy day to go to the snack machines or just to talk to friends.

Lunchtime was always an experience with many students leaving campus to eat. Some of the more popular places to go were McDonalds, Rays at the Tucson Bowl, Pizza Pub, and Eegees.

Going out was also big this year. People often went to house parties to be with their friends. Socializing and having a good time remained one of the top priorities of students.

All in all, what students were really looking for was a good time and and friends to share it with.

(8) One of the other favorite music groups was Van Halen. (Photo by T. Nelson)

Movies, Music Help Keep Students Busy

People can't function well without a break from the boredom of everyday life, and the answer for this was entertainment.

Many students enjoyed going to concerts with their friends to see their favorite bands perform. Among some of the favored groups were Duran Duran, Prince, Iron Maiden, Billy Idol, Judas Priest, Madonna and Van Halen. The day after a concert you could expect to see several people with concert T-shirts.

Movies were a good way to spend an evening when there weren't any school events. Some new movies were Purple Rain, Teachers, Karate Kid, Ghostbusters, All of Me and The Temple of Doom.

Many hours were spent hanging out at malls, going to the arcades or just talking to friends.

Homecoming Events Spark Student Spirit

Homecoming was a great event for everyone. Students at Palo Verde were filled with excitement. Each class created a float, with the seniors winning first place, the juniors second place, sophomores third and the freshmen with last place.

Homecoming was an especially happy event for Monica Heredia who was crowned Homecoming Queen. Jamie Davis received the honor of Homecoming King during the annual homecoming assembly, while the queen received her award at the football game later that evening.

For the crowd, the biggest highlight in the homecoming game was the halftime ceremonies where the nominees for queen rode around the field in Corvettes that were loaned to Palo Verde.

New Fashions Help Students Be Unique

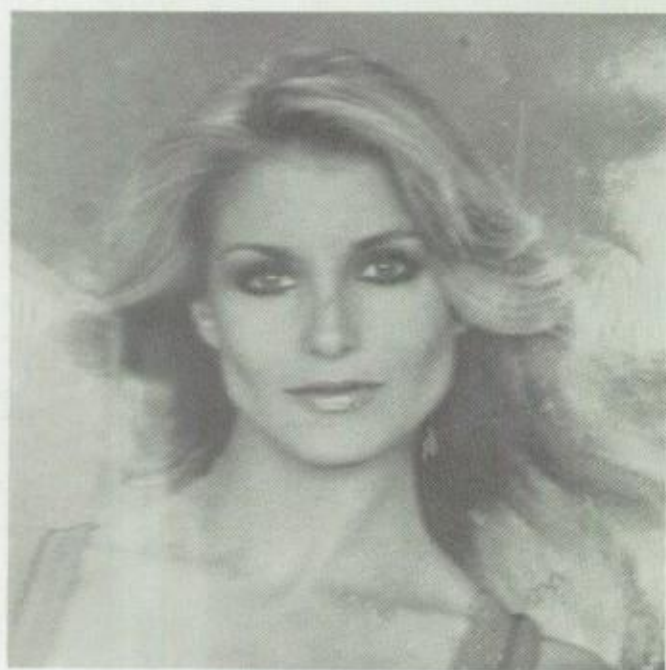

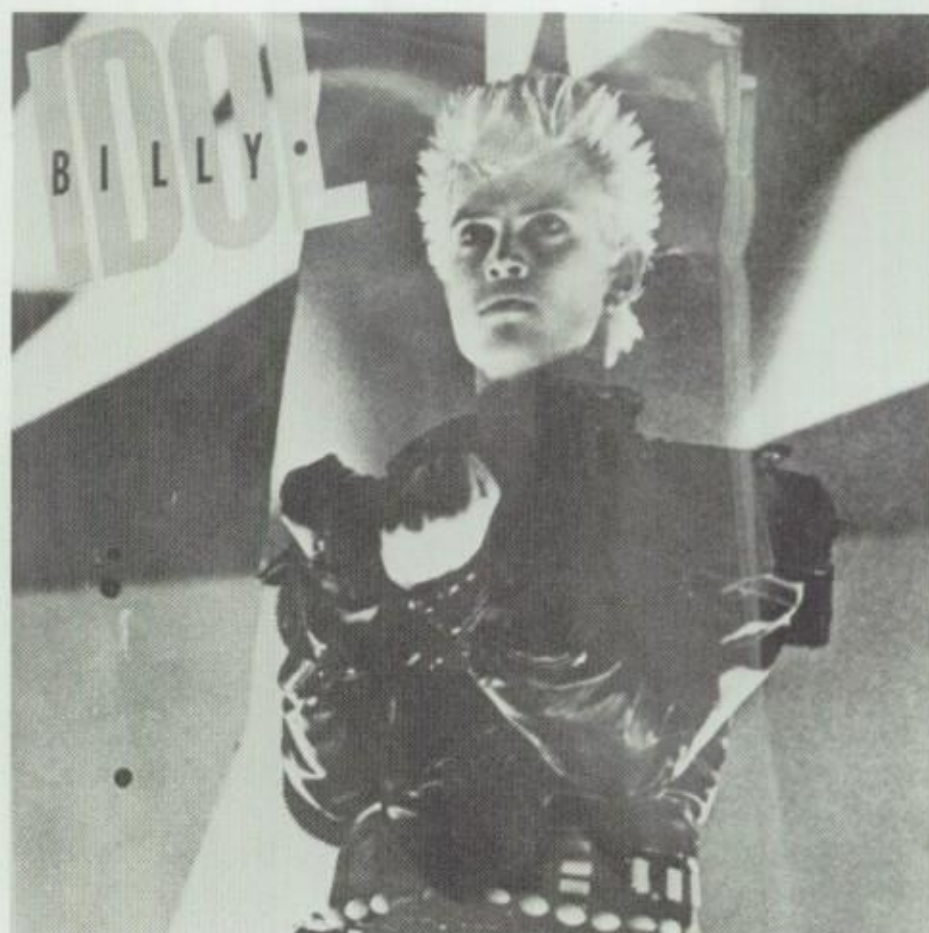

Dressing up and looking good was easy for many students. New fashions kept appearing on the market allowing a freedom of expression in what was worn. One new look this year was "loose and sloppy". This was comfortable clothing with many layers. Another new style for clothes was neon. These bright colors helped many people to be noticed around campus. Neon clothes ranged from hair scarves to shirts and even socks and shoes.

Preppy and Cowboy, as always, were an "in" fad. These styles have proven themselves to be the longest lived — never really going out of style.

Students were expressing themselves by the way they dressed, by conforming to, or developing new, different, and exciting fads.

Assemblies Keep Enthusiasm High

Having school spirit or getting it was a goal of many students at Palo Verde. One way this was accomplished was by having pep assemblies. Even though the pep assemblies were re-scheduled for before school, many students and teachers alike showed up to show their enthusiasm and school spirit.

Assemblies were always full of attention-getting activities such as "break dancing" and the routines that were done by the cheerleaders and the songleaders. A new addition to the activities was the recently introduced "Blue Wave" which really got everyone into the spirit of school.

Also involved with the assemblies were the Titan Vanguard members. They helped add to the excitement by playing lively music at the assemblies.

Spirit Week Allows Student Expression!

Spirit week was held February 18-22. It was a chance for the students to let themselves go by dressing up in outrageous costumes.

Monday was Kiddie Day. People dressed up in diapers and carried bottles as well as their teddy bear for companions.

Tuesday was Bum-Hobo Day. There were bums and hobos with patches on their clothes everywhere.

Wednesday was 50's Day. Students were dressed up in poodle skirts and leather jackets.

Thursday was Beach-Hawaiian Day. The school was full of Hawaiian shirts and sunglasses.

Friday was Toga-Slave Day. Slaves were sold to the highest bidder. Many people were dressed up in togas.

Holidays and Rodeo Keep Interest High

Holidays are always an enjoyable time for students. Christmas was favored the most by everyone. Several teachers got into the Christmas spirit by decorating their doors.

Valentine's Day was also a favorite for students. Hearts with poems written on them were sold by the National Honor Society, and sent out during homeroom. Messages were written and printed in the Post. It was a time enjoyed by students.

The Rodeo Parade is always a big hit with everyone, and as usual, the Titan Vanguard marched the entire route of the parade.

Rodeo vacation was welcomed by everyone, and enjoyed by all. People were excited at the chance to go to the rodeo activities and to spend a little time relaxing at home.

Being With Friends Keeps Spirits High

As the end of the school year came to a close, many students made plans for the summer break. Some students wanted to be with good friends during the vacation before heading off to college or a career. Others took vacations to other places to visit friends or relatives that they hadn't seen all year.

Seniors were busy taking the entrance exams for college such as the ACT or the SAT. While they were busy taking those tests, the rest of the students were taking the California Achievement test to check on their progress in the past year.

Excitement grew as the last days of school grew near. The promise of being one year closer to the end of a school career made everyone feel as if they had accomplished something positive.

Future's Child

People talking of the world today,
they wish it was the past,
they used to be the first in line,
now they are the last.

Looking forward to yesterday,
a task not hard to do,
they hold their breath with memories,
until their faces turn blue.

They wonder where their friends have gone,
and whether they're still alive, they'd ask whatever happened to,
the class of Eighty-five.

They'd think of all the good times, all the troubles we were in,
always managing somehow,
to pull through thick and thin.

Through those high school years,
from very beginning to end,
everywhere you turned,
you always had a friend.

All your dreams and all your goals,
struggling in the past,
you never lost your will to win,
you know it would always last.

—Senior Don Day

Well Marta its been weird knowing you, real weird just kidding I'll get to know next year I'll get a fun summer too better. Have so damn take. See ya next year

MARTA
ITS BEEN REALLY NICE KNOWING YOU BUT I'D OF
STRANGE TO PUT KID
EYES, THAT YOU'RE STRANGE
YOUR STILL A KID
SEE YOU SOON

The 1984-85 Olympian Yearbook Staff would like to dedicate this years book to our advisor, Mr. Burdette Bee. For 23 years, now, he has been the advisor for the staff. Along with this, he taught endless classes of Graphic Arts and Production Printing. He is the coach for the Bowling team and at one time, he headed a Printing Club. He also prints up awards certificates, schedual changes, note pads and many other needed items.

Along with all of this, he also has a part time job and a family with six kids. Besides these particular kids, he has countless other kids, namely goats that he raised for 4-H. He definately has his hands full!

All his hard work and dedication deserves to be recognized.

You are a very special person and we all love and respect you. Thank you for everything

From your 84-85 Olympian Staff

HE DOES! Because he won't look at me or anything.
I've just got this awful shitty feeling in me.
I'm sorry! This is supposed to be a farewell or whatever.
OK. FUCK YOU IF YOU CAN'T TAKE A JOKE!! I've loved keeping you amused by my stupid jokes! Oh, and thank for the buzz Friday! It made work sooo funny! He's looking at me now! Sorry for getting you in trouble for ditching 2nd with me. That was pure shit! Mrs. Stussy's a Cunt, (ha) Don't let anyone read this, I don't want them to know I talk like this! O.K.? Sean Kennedy is gorgeous! and I could ^{sofory} KILL you for having them (him & Shannon) over that ^{sofory} night! I almost shit a golden twinkie! IMBARRASSMENT! I'll have to become a nun, so they don't think I did anything.
No, fuck it! Thank for the introduction to the new mind bonding substance! COCAINE! Remember in my room, when you & Emmita got me laughing & I blew it all over the place! Emmita tackled me and started strangling me! FUNNY SHIT! Since we only knew each other part of the year, we're gonna have to make up the absence of time this summer: MY HOUSE:
JULY 2 - AUG 14' or so. It's HERBIVITAVILLE! A FUN FILL SUMMER OF HERB, COKE, BEER, AND YES! SEX. (naha) what a well shit! This is dragging out to infinity! But I know you love it! Cuz you think the longer I make it, the more I love you! HAW! fooled you!! No. I'm just messing with you head. Speaking of which, I suggest you stay away from Shannon, unless you want to end up barefoot, pregnant, in slippers, ironing his work shirts & watching soaps the rest of your life! I hope you're not taking any of this serious, cuz I am Bullshitting you. NO IT'S SERIOUS! You are a great ^{PICKED UP} friend! Take it easy and don't forget to include me in on your party plans!

Love you alot!

Dwight

Monte, get the confession
I didn't get as well I know know you as well I know wanted to. I want to know you like the back of my hand!!
with the front of my hand!!
Save your big tits!! Call me when those guys need a little
TLC!! 596-3826
So you won't have to rush up on stage
to get it!!

Love,
Dante

Marta, I wish
 I would have gotten to know you sooner this year. We didn't have too much time to talk. Oh well we have next year to get better acquainted.
 Good luck with your little problem.
 Let's party during the summer.
 Love, Johnson '85 I wish

Dear Marta,
 It's been a good year. Next year will be better!!
 Hang in there
 Kid. I know
 you make it.
 Best of luck
 in all you do!!
 I will see you next Sept? If don't come visit when you come to town
 I will

Marta,
 Here's women, Jim really glad were good friends. You really a cool chick and you deserve the best. Have a great summer and take care, But most of all be good and don't party to hard.

Marta,
 It was great
 having you in English and in Drivers Ed. You made both classes much more exciting for me.
 I hope you have a real great summer and senior year. Maybe will have another class together next year. Good luck with the guys and everything you do.

Love
 Jeff
